GUBERNATORIAL CANDIDATE ROY BROWN ANNOUNCES RUNNING MATE

Bozeman Businessman Steve Daines Joins Ticket As Candidate For Lt. Governor

Billings, MT – Republican Gubernatorial Candidate Roy Brown introduced his running mate, Steve Daines, to Montanans during a seven-city statewide tour on Wednesday and Thursday.

“Steve is an experienced businessman, a family man, and an innovative leader. I’m proud to have him join in the effort to make Montana a better place to live,” said Brown. “Steve and I share a commitment to serving the people of this state and leading the charge for a smarter, smaller, more accountable government, and we’ll fight for those principles in Helena.”

Daines, a fifth generation Montana native, graduated from Montana State University in Bozeman. He currently works as Vice President of Right Now Technologies in Bozeman, which employs more than 700 Montanans.

“I’m proud to run along side Roy to fight for new, high-paying jobs in Montana,” said Daines. “We’re public service minded businessmen. We’ve signed both sides of the paycheck. We know, first-hand, what it takes to create good jobs in the state, because we’ve done it our entire lives in the private sector.”

“This election is a battle for our values and for our future, and if we work together, Montana can realize its potential,” said Brown. “We’ll fight for permanent property tax relief, we’ll reign in out-of-control spending, and we’ll work every day to ensure that Montana and its children have a future they can look forward to.”
